

AMOS Retrospective

Overall it was a pleasant experience to be able to work on a practical project. The following bulletpoints are points which came up during the runtime of the Amos project:

What did not work:

- The lecture quizzes did not match with lecture videos on youtube as well as the lecture notes
- The explanation of the quiz questions would be better in written form
- The use of stand-up mails was not apparent because we moved the communication to discord, where it is better organized
- It was disadvantageous that a product owner was not german speaking, when the project was labeled as „only german speaking“
- Sometimes the SDs had fill in the roles of the POs. The coach took only then action, when the problem was brought up to him.

Tips:

- Discord or a communication platform which has different channels for different information is quite useful
- Gitmojis are helpful for quickly understanding git commit messages

Main Concern:

- Up to the current point the grading scheme was not made transparent
